

MONUMENTS AND MEMORIES

Tuesday, December 23
7:30 pm – 8:30 pm
Via Zoom

Workshop led by Rabbi Scott Kalmikoff, a genealogist who has spent the past 19 years exploring his roots, building his family tree and meeting relatives around the world.

By walking you through the steps he took to conduct his personal genealogical research, Rabbi Scott will teach you the methodology of searching for death and burial records, navigating cemeteries and burial societies, and deciphering information on our ancestors' graves. The workshop gives you an overview of online Jewish genealogical resources connected to death and burial so you can use them from the comfort of your home.

Cemeteries aren't just places of rest—they're rich archives of history, memory, and connection. Whether you're just beginning to explore your roots or you've been researching your family history for years, this workshop will help you see cemeteries not as somber places, but as vibrant sources of stories waiting to be rediscovered.

To register for the class contact
Bryn Biren at MsBunny7@aol.com

scott.kalmikoff@gmail.com | 718.737.8883 | genealogywithrabbiscott.com